

General Company Information

The roots of ALLECTRIC in Vienna date back to 1926 while the enterprise was first incorporated in 1932. By extending the business to refrigeration appliances the first compressor refrigerators were imported to Austria. Today ALLECTRIC is a synonym for high quality products and the leading wholesaler of commercial appliances in Austria.

Customer Satisfaction

Satisfaction of our clients' individual, partially very special needs is our first priority. Service and project related care is completed by our own transport facilities. For exports we are in close cooperation with selected national importers and large international carriers supplying fast, reliable and economic freight services by road, sea or air.

Our refrigerators and deep freezers are mainly focussed on requirements of commercial and professional applications in various industrial sectors like:

- food and beverage industries
- hotels and restaurants
- architects, building constructors and housing equipment suppliers
- social and public institutions, administrations
- health care: - research/production: pharmaceutical companies, laboratories, blood banks
- retail/institutions: drug stores, distributors, hospitals, retired people estates

Manufacturing

ALLECTRIC complements the large research and development potential of local and international manufacturers and specialised sub-suppliers of top refrigeration technology with additional work-shop finishing and development of components:

For medical and laboratory applications such units are specially being assembled, often measure made to customer requirements. Proven product quality has made ALLECTRIC the market leader for medical coolers in Austria. Our special range covers the following volumes:

- Medical refrigerators from 65 - 1380 litres
- Laboratory refrigerators and freezers from 126 - 1380 litres
- Blood bank refrigerators from 180 - 1380 litres
- Plasma deep freezers from 117 - 650 litres

Service

ALLECTRIC provides maintenance and repair for products and accessories through it's own service department and various service partners in Austria. Selected international distributors are supported to the same guidelines.

Our customers may expect prompt delivery of products and service. Therefore a high service degree of our stocks and an efficient implementation of modern technology in logistics and administration as well as staff training has become a management target.
